Twenty American CIA staff killed in martyrdom operation

Thursday, 31 December 2009 09:23 Zabihullah Mujahid

KHOST, Dec. 29 - Twenty CIA employees were killed as well as twenty five injured early Tuesday evening within the area of " Zarah Hawi Dagar" ( old airfield ) near the center of Khost province, according to the news from Khost.

The martyr attack was carried out by an Afghan military, Samiullah, when the CIA agents got together in a U.S. club-cum-training center for a meeting in order to collect information on the Mujahideen.

According to one of the club's guards, the CIA employees, dressed in Afghan uniform were in the the club discussing as an army officer entered the club and set off his explosive-packed vest, killing and injuring all inside the club.

In fact, it is not the first time that the Afghan military people, out of true Islamic feelings and inspiration, carry out such frontal attacks on the infidel invaders; just around two days ago, prior to this incident, an Afghan army soldier naming Jan Muhammad killed one American soldier and injured two Italians.

Similarly, five British soldiers were killed by another Afghan soldier, Gulbuddin, in Helmand's Nad Ali district.

It is, therefore, worth mentioning that the Afghans( Afghan National Army), who used to fight for the U.S forces against Mujahideen, are now waiting for their Afghan brothers' operations against the invaders because they are convinced that the Americans and there allies are the enemy of our religion and honors whose barbarism and terrorism are no longer bearable.
